The dawn attack unfolded in the Na'amata area, most of which was captured by Iraqi forces on Monday, two special forces officers told The Associated Press. They spoke on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to talk about the operation.

15 militiamen used tanks and snipers and targeted Iraqi forces with six explosive-laden cars that were destroyed before they reached their targets, the officers said. Iraqi forces also used bulldozers, but no details were given.

The clashes resumed by Tuesday afternoon, but the officers said progress was slowed by roadside bombs that the militants left behind. The troops also paused to destroy tunnels in the area. Since Monday, 160 militiamen have been killed, the officers said.

The push into Na'amata, a sprawling agri-culture area 40 miles (65 kilometers) west of Baghdad, was the first attempt by Iraqi forces to storm Fallujah, which fell to IS in 2014. In recent days, Iraqi forces had focused on expelling the militants from-outlying areas to fight on the city.

“An estimated 50,000 civilians still inside Fallujah. Humanitarian groups have called upon both sides to open safe corridors out of the city for the trapped civilians,” Human Rights Watch said in a report.

SAO PAULO — Brazil’s anti-corruption body has started an investigation into the president-elect’s public support for his predecessor’s policies, sparking concerns about the future direction of the country.

The investigation, which is the first of its kind in Brazil, focuses on President-elect Jair Bolsonaro’s support for his predecessor, Michel Temer, in the run-up to the presidential election last year. Temer had been under investigation for alleged corruption and money laundering.

Bolsonaro has been a vocal supporter of Temer’s policies, which have been controversial in Brazil. Temer has been accused of corruption, money laundering, and embezzlement.

The investigation is expected to take several months, and it is not clear how long it will take for the results to be released.

Cleveland says it's prepared for RNC

CLEVELAND — city officials on Tuesday insisted that they're prepared to keep the violence that's needed to keep people safe during the Republican National Convention in July.

City Manager admirably said in a May 21 briefing to council, "We've been working on this for months. We've had a lot of meetings, a lot of planning, a lot of coordination with other agencies." He added that the city is "well prepared" and "ready to go."

The city has been working on security plans for months, with a focus on ensuring the safety of the about 50,000 people expected to attend the convention.

Police Chief was also present at the briefing, saying that the city is "well prepared" and "ready to go." He added that the police department has been working closely with other agencies, including the FBI and the Secret Service, to ensure the safety of the attendees.

The convention is set to begin on July 18 and run through the 21st, with a focus on nominating the Republican nominee for president.

New Baylor coach is the ‘right leader’

Former Wake Forest coach Jim Grobe watches from the sidelines during a NCAA college football game. Those who have worked and played for the new Baylor coach, McCar, believe in his leadership approach, with a great deal of respect for the institution.

Grobe is an active member of the American Football Coaches Association, headquartered in Ames, Iowa. The second annual earrings (2008-2013) are expected to be thrown as the team’s annual catch-up day.

As a coach, winning is important. At the same time, I want to assure the Baylor family that every decision we will make in this football program will be made with Baylor University, our students and our student-athletes in mind.”

There was speculation and unconfirmed reports following the news that Briles would prevent McCar from doing his job. Instead, the university decided to do the opposite for the good of the student-athletes and the community. This is a difficult time of year to hire a football coach, especially at a university wracked by serious misconduct, defined as sexual assault, part of a $5 million initiative.

“arrest, shootings important. At the same time, I want to assure the Baylor family that every decision we will make in this football program will be made with Baylor University, our students and our student-athletes in mind.” Grobe said in the statement.

It is still unclear how much of the current staff will remain at Baylor for the upcoming season. While the report by the Pepper Hamilton law firm did not give details and specific names of other coaches involved in wrongdoing, the findings stated staff members spoke directly to law enforcement and reported witnessed the alleged wrongdoing.

Changes in the chain of command

Ken Starr, former president

• Before Baylor, Starr was the Solicitor General from 1989-1993 for the George H.W. Bush administration. He was also the special prosecutor for the Whitewater scandal, which investigated Bill and Hillary Clinton’s real estate investments in the 1970s and 1980s.

•Before Baylor, Starr was in practice in 2010 and then, in 2013, the University also named him as the chancellor.

Ian McCaw, former AD

• Before he came to Baylor in 2007, McCaw was director of athletics at Northwestern University from 1997-2002 and at the University of Massachusetts for nearly a year.

• Before Gold, McCaw and Art Briles led the football programs through notched head games for two consecutive seasons.

Art Briles, former head coach

• From 2003-2013, Briles was the head coach at the University of Houston. The football team reached the No. 1 ranking in 2002 and 2003.

•Before Baylor, Briles was the head coach at Houston.

•Before Baylor, Briles had turned the Bears into a Big 12 powerhouse after they languished at the bottom of the conference since 1994.

What went wrong in Waco?

In 2010, Grobe was fired, as he decided to leave Waco. Grobe was named the head coach at Baylor in 2007.
